Report on group work feedback

The groups were asked to answer a series of questions and the plenary involved a request for one word answers to these questions. These answers are summarized below:

Starting in your own practice next Monday morning, How do you feel about being assessed?

Nervous, why me, anxious, terrible, irritated, afraid, hate, I will show them, that's OK, welcome, curious, lucky.

Who could assess you?

Peer – accredited, Tutor or instructor, trainee, trainer, self, patient, medical director, staff e.g. nurse.

Which assessment method?

Simulated patient, Case review, medical record review, direct observation – sitting in., video.

Who might be interested in the outcome of the assessment?

Self, patients, management, employer, regulator, managed care manager, quality control authority, government, insurer.

Who might pay for this assessment?

Pro bono, Health organization, Government, self

The participants were positive about the prospect of assessments so long as the process was a formative one which was peer led.
